

Continuous pixel-space aperture training improves severe limited-view robustness

